THE LARGEST CONGRESS ON RADIATION RESEARCH

SPONSORSHIP AND EXHIBITION BROCHURE

JUNE 20–25,
2027, BRNO,
CZECH REPUBLIC

DEAR SPONSORS,

We are delighted to invite you to become part of the International Congress on Radiation Research (ICRR-2027) in Brno, Czech Republic. As the largest international event in radiation research, held once every four years on a different continent, ICRR-2027 will bring together up to 2,000 experts to address critical topics, from cancer radiotherapy to astronaut protection and sustainable nuclear energy.

Brno, a city rich in history and home to Mendel's pioneering genetics research, offers a strategic location with easy access to Prague, Vienna, Bratislava, and Budapest. This exceptional setting ensures high attendance and a dynamic scientific exchange.

We invite you to explore the sponsorship opportunities outlined in this brochure and consider being part of this prestigious event. Should you have any questions, we would be happy to discuss how your involvement could align with your goals.

We sincerely appreciate your time and consideration of sponsorship for ICRR-2027.

With our regards and gratitude.
On behalf of the organizing committee,

Assoc. Prof. RNDr.
Martin Falk, Ph.D.
ICRR-2027 President

Iva Falková, RNDr., Ph.D.
ICRR-2027 Vice President

Prof. Leoš Navrátil, CSc.,
M.D., MBA, dr.h.c.
ICRR-2027
Honorary President

TEN BULLETS WHY TO VISIT / SUPPORT ICRR–2027 CONGRESS

1.

The largest gathering devoted to the field of radiation research in the world.

Held every four years on different continents, it serves as a global forum akin to the Olympic Games in the realm of sports.

2.

ICRR series under the patronage of the International Association of Radiation Research:

The Leading Society in the Field: The International Association for Radiation Research (IARR) is the principal body behind the ICRR congress series. The IARR serves as the foremost organization representing societies dedicated to the study of ionizing radiation on a global scale. For additional information, please visit their official website, where the trailer for ICRR–2027 is also available:

<https://www.radres.org/mpage/IARR-Home>.

A diverse assembly of 1,000 to 2,000 top leading scientists and physicians from LEADING institutes all around the globe attracted to visit ICRR.

4.

Bold coverage of crucial topics that pose significant challenges to contemporary society, such as/including medicine (curative, preventive and palliative), space research, radiation protection and energy for future.

5.

Patronage and Support from Distinguished Political, Scientific, and Academic Authorities, with Additional Endorsements on the Horizon such as Czech Academy... and many others.

Local Organizer:

The Society for Radiobiology and Crisis Planning (SRCP), part of the Czech Medical Association of Jan Evangelista Purkyně (CzMA), is the local organizer of this event. The CzMA is the largest medical society in the Czech Republic. More information is available on the SRCP website:

<https://www.srkp.cz/vybor-srkp/>.

C-IN Professional Organization:

The conference is organized in collaboration with C-IN, a professional organizing partner that has extensive experience in managing large-scale congresses worldwide.

Close Collaborative Efforts:

There is a strong collaborative effort between the SRCP and other scientific societies, including partnerships with the European Radiation Research Society (ERRS). More about the ERRS can be found on their website: <https://www.errs.eu/en>.

Memorial Institute of Oncology, the Institute of Biophysics of the Czech Academy of Sciences (IBP CAS), the Institute of Scientific Instruments of the CAS, the Masaryk University, the Czech Technical University, the National Institute for Nuclear, Biological and Chemical Protection, the Czech Society for Radiation Protection, etc.

of the best cities to live in. Brno itself is celebrated as a “Mekka” of genetics, attracting numerous Nobel Prize winners. The city is noted for its safety, vibrant academic community, and culinary scene. Together with Vienna, Brno offers a rich cultural environment and beautiful surroundings (details provided later in this brochure). In June, when the conference occurs, the weather in Brno is typically very pleasant, making it an excellent time to attend with family. As a result, we anticipate a significant number of scientists from the USA and Asia bringing their families along. Congress venue — the largest exhibition center in CR with unique architecture and tradition since 1928.

Partnerships with Prestigious Scientific, Academic and Clinical Institutions:

The conference organizers closely cooperate also with other respected institutes and institutions in Brno and across the Czech Republic, such as the Masaryk 10.

Unique Location – the Enchanting Heart of Central Europe:

Brno is centrally located in Europe, in close proximity to major cities like Prague, Vienna, Bratislava, and Budapest. Vienna has repeatedly been recognized as one

GREGOR JOHANN MENDEL

THE FATHER OF GENETICS

BRNO — THE CITY WHERE GENETICS WAS BORN

Gregor Johann Mendel (1822–1884) is one of the most significant men in history, not only that of Brno.

From 1856 he studied the cross-breeding of peas in Brno. Based on his experiments, he formulated three rules, later known as Mendel's laws of inheritance. In 1867, he became the abbot of the Abbey of St Thomas and was soon appointed to additional positions, which meant that he had to put aside his research.

Although Mendel was among the most significant citizens of Brno during his life, his contribution to biology was fully appreciated only after his death in 1884.

ICRR 2027 VENUE

The International Congress on Radiation Research (ICRR-2027) will take place in Brno, Czech Republic. Hosted as the Czech largest Exhibition Center (BVV), the congress venue offers unique architecture and history along with world-class facilities for engaging discussions, networking, and sponsor exhibitions.

Brno's proximity to major European capitals, vibrant academic community, and historical significance in genetics make it an ideal setting for this prestigious event.

PRELIMINARY TOPICS

RADIOTHERAPY (CURATIVE & PALLIATIVE)

- 1. Innovations in Radiotherapy
Cutting-Edge Techniques: Hadron Therapy, FLASH Therapy, etc., Integrating New Technologies into Clinical Practice
- 2. Innovations in Combined Cancer Treatments
Synergistic Approaches: Combining Radiotherapy with Immunotherapy and/or Chemotherapy, Radiopharmaceuticals
- 3. Biological Effects and Therapeutic Applications of Laser and Non-Ionizing Radiation
- 4. Radiosensitizers to Enhance Radiotherapy and Theranostics:
Chemical, Physical, and Smart Nanomaterials for Targeted and Effective Treatments
- 5. Hypoxia and Cancer Cell Radioresistance

RADIATION PROTECTION ON EARTH AND IN SPACE

- 6. CBRN Threats and Lessons from Radiation Accidents
Addressing the Terrorist and Military Misuse of Radioactive Materials and nuclear weapons; Consequences of the war in Ukraine, Fukushima Daiichi Accident etc. for Understanding of Health Risks after Irradiation and for Improved Management of Radiation Events
- 7. Epidemiological Insights from Low-Dose, Environmental, and Occupational Radiation Exposure Studies
Including Radioactive Spa Therapies, Naturally Occurring Radon Exposure, Medical Imaging Risks, and Communities in High Natural Background Radiation Areas
- 8. Radiation Protection Protocols, Radiation Detection & Dosimetry, Biodosimetry, Risk Management and Communication
- 9. Radioprotectors
Chemical and Physical Agents to Protect against Radiation (Medicine, Space Research, Civil Protection in case of Radiation Accidents)

SPACE RESEARCH

10. Microgravity and Mixed-Field Radiation Effects on Human Health

Understanding Biological Effects of Ionizing Radiation in Space Missions and Situations Associated with Mixed-Field Radiation Exposure and Microgravity; Preparing for Future Space Exploration: Risks and Mitigations

11. Individual Radiosensitivity and Biomarkers, Personalized Medicine and Risk Assessment

Identifying Biomarkers for Personalized Radiation Therapy; Implications for Treatment Efficacy and Safety; Selection of Astronauts, etc.

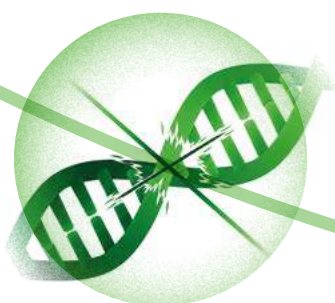

12. Non-Cancer Radiation Effects (and their Relevance for Human Health and to Accomplish Space Missions)

BASIC SCIENCE – RADIATION INTERACTIONS WITH MATTER

13. Quantum Process and Radiation Physics

14. Radiochemistry

15. Radiation and the origin of life

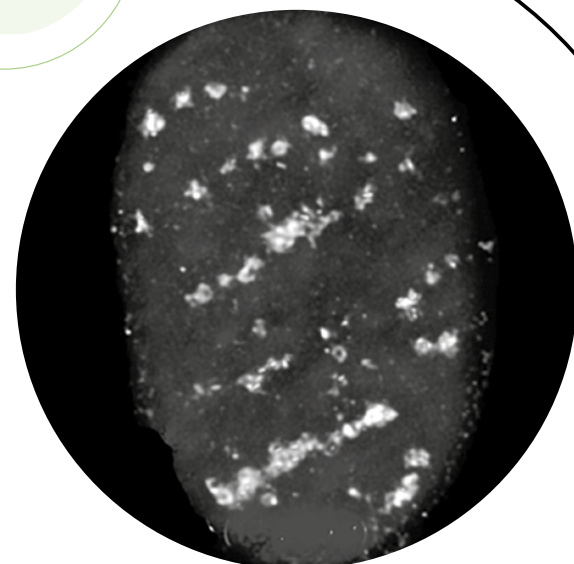

BASIC SCIENCE – RADIOBIOLOGY

16. DNA Damage and Repair and Processes in the Cell Nucleus

DNA Damage and Repair Mechanisms; Pathway Selection in DNA Repair and Implications for Cancer Therapy

17. Radiation-Induced Cell Damage and Repair in Space and Time: Utilizing Microscopy for Enhanced Visualization of Cellular Damage and Repair Mechanisms

Investigating DNA Damage and Repair within the Natural Context of Chromatin, Analysing Changes in Chromatin Architecture Post-Irradiation and During DNA Repair, Advancing Microdosimetry Techniques for Precision Assessment of Radiation Effects

18. Epigenetic Responses to Ionizing Radiation

Understanding the Transformation of Epigenetic Landscapes; Potential Therapeutic Targets in Radiation-Induced Changes

19. Radiation-Induced Genomic Instability

Mechanisms Leading to Carcinogenesis; Clinical Implications of Genomic Instability Research

20. Out-of-Nucleus radiation damage and health effects

21. Low-Dose Radiation and Systemic Effects

Studying Non-targeted Effects and Abscopal Responses

22. Microbiome and Metabolic Interactions in Radiation Exposure

The Impact of Radiation on Cellular Metabolism and the Microbiome; Metabolic Pathways in Radiation Response

23. Similarities and Differences in Animal and Plant Responses

MULTISCALE MODELING, AI, (BIO)INFORMATICS IN RADIATION RESEARCH

24. Multiscale Modeling, Machine Learning and AI

in Radiation Science and Radiotherapy

25. OMICs and Big Data Analytics in Understanding Radiation Biology; Non-Coding RNAs in Radiation Biology

RADIOECOLOGY

26. Radioecology and Environmental Radiation

Impact of Radioactive Contaminants on Ecosystems; Assessment of Radon Risks and Mitigation Strategies

GREEN ENERGY FOR FUTURE

27. Green Nuclear Energy for Future

Modular Reactors and Their Role in Sustainable Energy Solutions; Advances in Radiation Chemistry and Fuel Processing

A UNIQUE BENEFITIAL RUN WITH RORY AND GARY— THE RESCUE DOGS

We are thrilled to introduce you the mascots of the ICRR-2027 congress—meet Rory and Gery, dynamic rescue dogs who exemplify bravery and compassion. This remarkable father-son duo not only captivates hearts with their adorable charm but also plays a vital role in saving lives. Trained to locate victims in the aftermath of natural disasters, as well as, for example, Alzheimer's patients and children lost in the fields and forests, Rory and Gery embody the spirit of friendship, resilience and hope. The Congress promises an engaging and memorable experience, including a unique beneficial run with Rory and Gerry in the picturesque park below the legendary Spielberg Castle. Participants can choose from routes ranging from 15 metres to 5 kilometres, and rest assured that our talented four-legged friends are ready to ensure that no one strays too far from the path!
